

Environmental Policy

Kassinakis S.A., an industrial production and trading company of plastics and electrical materials, is committed to environmental protection and to complying with the relevant Greek and European legislation. At the same time, it strives for the continuous improvement of its environmental performance and the sustainable development of its activities.

Our objectives include:

- Using raw materials and energy in the most efficient way.
- Reducing the waste generated by our production processes.
- Developing new products and services in line with environmental protection goals and our company's commitments.

To achieve these objectives, the company has adopted an Environmental Management System certified according to the internationally recognized standard EN ISO 14001:2015.

Management collaborates closely with all employees, encouraging them to actively support the implementation of the Environmental Policy and contribute to the ongoing improvement of our environmental performance.

The system's effective operation is fully supported by the company's leadership, through the provision of the necessary resources, oversight, and commitment to its continuous improvement.

The appointed Environmental Manager is responsible for monitoring, evaluating, and improving environmental aspects of the company's activities, ensuring problems are addressed, corrective actions are taken, and all programs are implemented successfully.

Finally, our company encourages its suppliers, contractors, and partners to adopt and follow the principles of our Environmental Policy, thereby extending our commitment to sustainability across our value chain.
